

3 DAY TRAINING WORKSHOP ON COMPUTER APPLICATIONS IN CIVIL ENGINEERING

Organized by

Department of Civil Engg & IGS Srinagar Chapter

In Association with M/S Ram Caddsys Pvt Ltd, Chennai

June 29-July 01, 2017

Venue: Hitech-Room - 3

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY SRINAGAR, J&K

Aim of the training program

The aim of the training program is to familiarize the students/participants with the most up-to-date developments in Civil Engineering construction and design. The focus shall be on fundamental concepts, planning & design to solve research and industry related civil engineering problems in various disciplines such as Geotechnical Engg., Structural Engg, Water Resources Engg and Transportation Engg & Planning. The training will be imparted by M/S Ram Caddsys Chennai, who have agreed for this program to be held from w. e. f. June 29-July 01, 2017.

Who should attend?

Civil Engineers who are involved in advanced analysis and design of various civil engg works and underground space. This training program is very much relevant for researchers looking into the features, methods and solutions of various complex problems. Since building constructions, excavations, tunnelling and similar applications have several effects on the subsoil structures, it is very important to establish the mechanical properties of soils when designing foundations, embankments and other soil structures followed by structural design. These problems can be successfully simulated with help of various computer applications. This will be a great chance for researchers/students to catch up with innovation in Finite Element Modelling. Using computer applications. The users are provided with an opportunity to share their work experience.
